It had to happen Parking lot regulations questioned

Mrs. John Doane of Suncrest Avenue raised an interesting point, in a Board of Appeals hearing, Tuesday night. Mrs. Doane contested the parking regulations of Wilmington, a Wilmington By-Law. She said that they are in conflict with the new Federal laws and regulations, designed to promote clean air, and to reduce car traffic.

The point that the lady raised will probably have to go to the Town Council. As such it will probably hold up the construction of a new 90,000 square foot building for the Compugraphic Corporation, a building which that company has been planning for the past four years.

FRED DICENSO AND FRIENDS: At the public hearing before the Board of Appeals, Mrs. Doane is at right, wearing glasses.

The appellant, before the Board of Appeals, was I Fred DiCenso of Quincy, who is part owner of much of the industrial property along Industrial Way. The only reason he had to appear before the Board of Appeals was because a part of the proposed parking lot for the new building was to be over 300 feet away, and that is more than the Wilmington By-Laws allow.

Mr. DiCenso was proposing a parking lot for 1155 cars, in accordance with the Town By-Laws. Part of the area was to be unpaved - but part of it would also be more than 300 feet from the new building - and that meant an appeal.

About midway through what was an ordinary routine hearing Mrs. Doane raised her point. "How," she asked, "does this conform with the Federal Environmental Act?"

"How," she also asked, "does this conform with the Federal regulation in which parking lots are to be reduced by 25% so that employees will be encouraged to form car-pools?"

The federal laws and regulations have been on the books since about last October, when the energy crunch began, but it was the first time there was any mention of them in a Board of Appeals hearing.

Bruce MacDonald, the chairman, said nothing. Fred DiCenso said he had no choice but to abide by the town regulations - and that was why he was at the hearing. He had to have a parking lot for every 200 square feet in the building.

The conversation changed - Paul Jepson of Woburn Street said that the plan scared him, because Mr. DiCenso could buy land owned by the Lyons Brothers of Medford, and have a road out to Woburn Street.

Selectman James Miceli, one of three selectmen who were present, spoke up. Mr. DiCenso, he said, would have to put a plan through the Planning Board to do anything like that. Compugraphic, he said, had always been a good neighbor, and he endorsed the firm whole heartedly.

The conversation reverted to the questions raised by Mrs. Doane. Fred DiCenso thought that "somebody has got to go to the town." Chairman Bruce MacDonald went further. It might be necessary, he said, to go to the Town Meeting to meet the Federal Laws.

Bernard McMahon named to head new non-teaching position

Bernard McMahon, for the past twenty-five years the principal of Wilmington High School, has been named to head the Non-Instructional Personnel of the Wilmington School Department. Mr. McMahon will assume his new duties in September, if by that time the School Department has hired a new principal, for Wilmington High School.

The position of Principal is "posted" in Wilmington, and there will be nation wide advertisements, Supt. Walter Pierce has told the Town Crier. Mr. Pierce says he is going to get "the best possible person I can find."

The position to which Mr. McMahon has been named is called Administrator of Non-Instructional Personnel and Service Administration. It will pay $23,500 a year, and be an eleven month position, in each year.

The position calls for the planning, organizing and supervision of the staff of non-professional personnel, not including instructional, para-professional and full or part time librarians. Specifically, personnel under the supervision of the Administrator will be all Secretaries, Teacher Aids, Cafeteria Employees, Minibus Drivers, and all others so assigned.

The Administrator will coordinate all pupil transportation services including bus routes and schedules and will serve as liaison between the schools and the bus contractor. He will also supervise all school safety programs and will serve as liaison between the schools and the School Safety Officer.

He will also organize a system wide school program of public relations, including the publication of a quarterly newsletter, as well as regular press and media promotional activities.

Also called for is the coordination of all activities relating to the school building program. This includes serving as a liaison between the schools and the Permanent Building Committee, the School Building Assistance Bureau (Massachusetts) and all other responsible parties.

The administrator will also organize and coordinate all educational activities between the Wilmington Schools and the Shawsheen Regional Technical Vocational School, including the new Occupational and Career Education Programs. The Administrator is to serve as a liaison between the schools and the Area Coordinator for Career Education from the Shawsheen Vocational School.

Blais - Porter faces opposition on two fronts

Blais - Porter, Reading Chevrolet agency which seeks to move into Wilmington had opposition this week from two fronts on the political scene, in Wilmington. The firm seeks to purchase 5.8 acres of land at the corner of Lowell Street Park (the part of Lowell Street which was discontinued when Route 93 was built) and Route 93. There was opposition in the Selectmen's meeting Monday night, and in a Board of Appeals hearing Tuesday evening.

THREE VIEWPOINTS: Selectman James Miceli and Richard Gamlin (at table) listen to Mrs. Anderson, (dark glasses).

Attorney James H. Watson of Reading told the Board of Appeals that the firm is planning to have a sign overlooking Route 93 with the new name of the firm, Yankee Chevrolet. The sign would be a fifteen foot sign, with a height of 47 feet, and would be double faced. The sign was one of four proposed by Attorney Watson, the others being proposed for the front of the lot, and to indicate Body Shop, etc.

He was opposed by Frank Ouellette of Westdale Avenue, who said he, as a near neighbor did not care to have a forty-seven foot high sign, with lights, near his home. Mr. Ouellette had no opposition to the other signs and said he was not against business.

Selectman A. Daniel Gillis spoke against the signs, saying that action the previous night by the Selectmen had been tabular. The four signs, Gillis said, all with double face, were actually eight signs, instead of the one allowed by the town's By-Laws. He found this to be "particularly offensive."

It was, he said, in his mind, not so much an appeal from hardship, but to cause one.

Gillis was seconded by Selectman George Boylen, who spoke of the sign by-law as one that the people of Wilmington have approved many times.

Monday night
The Selectmen's meeting, Monday night found Elizabeth Andersen of Lowell Street and Danny Gillis in opposition. Blais-Porter was represented by Richard Gamlin of Reading.

The question raised by Selectman Gillis was the possible four lane clover leaf with Route 93. At the time the Town Meeting rezoned the land, about a year ago, a statement was read from the State Department of Public Works saying that there would be no cloverleaf.

Gillis said he had asked the Town Manager to inquire, and the Town Manager read a letter from the State DPW which stated that they are definitely planning additional ramps, and that the study is now in the Environmental stage. It was indicated that there would be a land taking in July. The letter was signed by John Oliver of the DPW Highway Division.

Selectman James F. Banda spoke of the eight years in which activity had been discouraged, and of the letter that had been read in the Town Meeting saying that no activity was planned by the State DPW. He was backed by the Town Manager.

Selectman Cairra wanted to know why Blais-Porter did not seek to buy the land between Lowell Street Park and Lowell Street. Mr. Gamlin told him that, until two days ago, it was impossible.

Mrs. Andersen said that the businesses along Lowell Street had been expanding and that the residents there now had only a little space left. Her's was a plea to the selectmen not to allow more business on that street.

The decision was tabled until the day after Memorial Day.

Tennis anyone? Bocci?? Sons of Italy unveil plans for new building

Probably the only fraternal organization in Massachusetts which has an officer named the Grand Orator is the Sons of Italy. The title implies much, but instead he is the person who keeps the other orators brief in their remarks. He is, in effect, the Parliamentarian of the order.

The remarks were brief, last Saturday, at the Chateau De Ville, in Saugus, where the Wilmington Chapter of the Sons of Italy had a dinner as a kick-off for their new building, planned to be constructed this summer.

The new home for the Sons of Italy will be constructed at the upper end of Ballardvale Street, in Wilmington, and Mike Cairra, Master of Ceremonies, told the audience of over 300 that he hoped the lodge is in its new quarters by Columbus Day.

Mr. Cairra, who is, among other things a Selectman of Wilmington, Morris, Chairman of the Building kept his remarks brief and to the point, and so did the other few persons who were asked to speak. State Senator Ron MacKenzie, Representative Fred Cain, and a man with a essayed a little humor, as did State Representative Fred Cain. Others kept their remarks to the lowest possible limit, including among other things the Chateau de Ville in which the lodge and friends were eating. Mr. Cairra said that the club hopes to complete the first phase this summer, which would include a Function Room and Club Quarters. The second phase, to be constructed later, would include a swimming pool, and, of course, a Bocci Court for those who love that ancient Italian sport.

An early evening, candlelight ceremony performed by Father Leahy before the altar of St. Dorothy's Church recently united in marriage Joan Diego Kuzirian, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Kuzirian of 17 Dirlam Circle, Tewksbury and Paul K. Raposo, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul M. Raposo of 488 Shawheen Ave., Wilmington.

Beautiful large mums adorned the altar and the organist's rendition of "Mother at Thy Feet," and "Ave Maria," enhanced the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a ruffled, angel skin gown, featuring lace and pearl trim and a long flowing train. Her fingertip veil of matching lace fell from a crown of pearls and netting. She carried a bouquet of white roses, carnations and baby's breath.

Mrs. Susan Hynes served her sister of matron of honor in a full length gown of peach chiffon featuring a flowered bodice and long sheer sleeves. She wore a matching bow in her hair and carried a mixed bouquet.

Denise Coutreau, Carol Daykin, and Janice Marsilia, friends of the bride and Kathy Raposo, sister of the groom, acted as bridesmaids in olive green gowns, styled identical to that of the matron of honor. They wore matching bows in their hair and carried mixed bouquets.

Doreen Kuzirian, sister of the bride served as junior bridesmaid. She wore a gown of the same color and styling as those worn by the bride's attendants.

Scott Hynes, brother-in-law of the groom served as best man while ushering duties were in charge of George Kuzirian, brother of the bride and Dave Rumanski, Larry D'Errico and Keith Daykin, friends of the couple.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held at Knights of Columbus Hall on Main St., Tewksbury where John Kuzirian and Steve Raposo circulated the guest book.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Kuzirian chose a full length pink gown and a corsage of white gardenias.

The mother of the groom was attired in a powder blue gown graced with a corsage of white gardenias.

For traveling the new Mrs. Raposo chose a baby blue polka dotted suit with lace trim and darker blue accessories.

Roll Up Your Sleeves

In the year past a few hundred of Wilmington's residents have faithfully attended the Red Cross Blood Banks, and given of their blood. Those people achieved something which the Town of Wilmington has never enjoyed before - total blood coverage for the blood needs of the entire community.

Now the quota has been raised, as raised it should be. A few hundred donors may be just a little to few.

The problem is recognized by many, including Wilmington's selectmen who have proclaimed Monday to be Bloodmobile Day. Go up to the K of C Hall Monday afternoon, and Roll Up Your Sleeves!

This is Police Week

This, gentle reader, is National Police Week. By proclamation of Wilmington's selectmen, and further proclamation of President Nixon this is a time to honor the boys in blue. The Wilmington Police station is a place to visit, and in which to make friends.

But it is not only during Police Week that the police station is open, and that the police officers of Wilmington are willing to extend a hand in friendship.

The burly flatfoot of yore has become the polite and educated police officer of today. More and more the police of today are becoming a corp of skilled specialists. They are worthy of the attention of the public, for they are law enforcement officers of whom the public can be proud.

No More Yard Sales

It is with a tinge of sadness that this column notes that the Honorable Board of Selectmen has forbidden Yard Sales, in Wilmington, without written permission. The Honorable Board acted Monday night, and now the humble citizen must hie himself to the Town Hall, hat in hand, to get that permission.

For a Yard Sale is a tried and true method of social intercourse. It is a method in which one family unloads its more valuable trash onto other families. Aunt Mazie's Fu-Kien Ducks (made in Japan) and Uncle Joe's pot cider barrel find another house in which to exist and be treasured for another generation.

Oh yes, there has been some commercialism. It was that to which the selectmen objected.

But it is the little Girl Scouts for whom the readers of this column may grieve. They collect their little treasures, and have a yard sale, and with the proceeds, hopefully, there will be a summer trip to Nantucket.

Maybe there will be no more such summer trips.

Community Service award to Wilmington Rotary

Nineteen Wilmington Rotarians and three Wilmington Little Leaguers were at the Marriott Hotel, in Newton, on May first to see the Rotary Club of Wilmington receive honors for its Community Service.

There was a special half hour program, from 2:15 pm to 3:45 pm, (part of an all day Spring Conference) which featured the work of the Wilmington Club, and its work in Rotary Park. Harold Foley of the Shamrock, in Wilmington Plaza was supposed to take part in the program, but was unable to do so because of illness in his family.

District Governor Michael Cantor presided, in place of Mr. Foley, and he turned the program over to the president of the Boston Club, Lamont Thompson, who acted as moderator for the rest of the program. The Boston president showed slides, with the history of Rotary Park in Wilmington - the Rotary Slams which were first used as money raisers, pictures of the old Hiller Cranberry Bog when it was acquired by the Wilmington Rotarians, of the work in filling the park and of raising money to pay for the fill over the years, and finally the presentation of the park to the Town of Wilmington, on June 26, 1973. President Ray York of Wilmington Rotary was presented with a beautiful lecture, for the use of speakers at the club. The presentation was by Gov. Michael Cantor.

There were short speeches by Secretary Stanley Webber and past President Henry Porter, and by Ray McNamara, who introduced the Little League players, in uniform - his own son Pat, Jerry O'Reilly and Jim Butler. Those three youngsters probably enjoyed it most of all.

The tragedy at the Woburn Street bridge

In a sense the accident at the Woburn Street bridge over Route 99, which was reported in last week's Town Crier, is a triple tragedy.

Nancy Freeman, 14, of North Reading was killed at the time of the accident. Karen Rose, 15, also of North Reading, succumbed to her injuries Saturday morning, at the Massachusetts General Hospital.

The third tragedy is, in effect, for the family of the young man charged with being the driver of that car. Ronald J. Lawrence, 17, of Swain Road has been charged by State Police with manslaughter and with operating a car without a license. He is to appear again today in the Woburn Court, being out on $1000 bail. His attorney is James Henchey of Woburn.

Because of the coming High School graduation, and possibly because of the "campus style" of Wilmington High School, there were a number of High School seniors who were not in school on the day of the accident. Some of these were at a home on Marcia Road, in North Wilmington, and among them was Ray Noel, who is the owner of the car that was involved.

Noel, it is said, allowed Cathy Howlett of Glen Road to borrow his car, to go to Wilmington High School, and with Miss Howlett went, as passengers, Lawrence and Merrill Clark of Floradale Avenue.

Miss Howlett is said to have parked the car at Wilmington High School and gone in. When she came out the car was gone. She called Noel on the telephone and informed him, this being about 3:15 pm.

The accident is reported to have occurred at 4:12 pm. There are no definite reports that this paper has heard as to Miss Clark being present at the time of the accident.

Bits & Pieces

Coffee house

The Corner Stone Coffee House, in the Masonic Hall, will be open Friday evening, with a musical group called True, from Brighton, playing a Bible class, from Malden, will be visiting.

The Coffee House is planning a visit to Maine, for the whole day, Saturday. They will leave from the Masonic building at 6 am and anyone who cares to join them will be welcome. A donation is expected, to pay for the bus.

Jimmy fund

There have been, in various places of business in Wilmington, some cans for coins for the Jimmy Fund, and for the March of Dimes. Not all have been returned - somehow the cans were moved to some other place or something like that.

Give the Wilmington Police a call, if you have one, gentle reader. One of Wilmington's Finest will come to call, and pick up said can.

LWV meeting

The League of Women Voters has just completed its 31st national convention in San Francisco, with the election of a new president, Ruth Clausen of Green Bay, Wisconsin.

The Wilmington League was present in the persons of Pat White of Nassau Avenue and Madelyn McKie of Woburn Street.

Canada Goose

A few weeks ago this column mentioned the Canada Goose, on Chestnut Street. Since then more have been seen in other ponds hereabouts.

The average individual can rejoice in the fact that there seem to be more geese now than a few years ago. Last year there were sixteen on Fosters Pond. This in spite of the fact that the writer caught a twelve or thirteen year old with a .22 rifle, trying to shoot geese out of season.

Five years ago Foster's Pond had only one pair.

Sad, sad tale

It happened a few nights ago.

High School Drama Club

IT GETS TO BE EXPENSIVE - SO IT DOESN'T HAPPEN OFTEN.

Miss Carol Chipman, Wilmington High School English teacher and director of the High School Drama Club production of William Shakespeare's "The Tempest" is shown presenting gifts to her assistant director, Janice Spada, and Karen Passmore, who designed and constructed most of the costumes for the play, which was presented at the Herbert C. Barrows Auditorium last Friday and Saturday evenings.

Officer Nally of the Wilmington Police Department drove a cruiser into the High School parking lot. There were several young fellows there, in car.

On the ground were three six-packs, bottles full.

Nally asked if anyone owned the six-packs. No one did. So Nally picked them up, and destroyed them, into the trash barrels. All 18 bottles. The boys just sat there and watched.

LWV Annual Meeting scheduled for May 25

The annual meeting of the Wilmington League of Women Voters is to be held on Wednesday evening, May 22 at the Conference Room of the Wilmington Memorial Library.

coffee and dessert will be served at 7:30 and it is hoped that movies of last month's League Hockey Game will be shown at this time.

followed promptly by the business meeting.

It is important that all members play to attend the annual meeting since this is the time new officers and directors are elected and the local program studies for next year are adopted.

Pat White, who attended the National Convention in San Francisco last week along with Madelyn McKie, will report on by-law changes adopted by the Convention.

The League of Women Voters is a non-partisan organization and anyone 18 years or older is invited to join.

Not a Town Forest?

One of the items in the Town Meeting last spring (Article 10) concerned some forty acres of land in the northern end of Ballardvale Street, much of it town owned, but some owned privately. The purpose of the article was to transfer custody of the land to the Recreation Department.

Three acres of the property belongs to Camp Forty Acres, Wilmington Youth Camp, Inc., which abuts the property to the east.

Article 10 was defeated in the Town Meeting, but there was a promise that there would be a further discussion. One such discussion took place on April 25th at the Woburn Street School.

Present were all the Board of Selectmen, and representatives of the Planning Board, Recreation Commission, Conservation Commission, Camp Forty Acres and the Wilmington Finance Committee.

Chairman Miceli asked for comments. Each speaker was concerned with keeping land for the town, but each had different ideas as to utilization. The Finance Committee was primarily interested in cost of acquisition and maintenance. Joseph Courtney, director of Camp Forty Acres, asked that those present be also concerned with the acquisition of additional land in the area to be held by the town as open space.

There was a considerable discussion as to the advantages and disadvantages of applying for State and Federal funding. Mr. Miceli was in favor of having Camp Forty Acres control the property, any other way would cost the town money in maintenance, development and control.

Arthur Bureau of the Conservation Commission asked that everyone look at the problem as a broad plan use of all the open land in North Wilmington, for the future, not just now, and cooperate for common good.

Madelyn McKie said that Federal funds could also be used for development and maintenance. She referred to Apollo Park, (so-called) which was obtained through Federal financing. George Boylen, selectman, opposed. He felt that the town would be "tied up." Selectman Gillis felt that the important thing was to get the land as soon as possible, and other considerations being mentioned would prove to be "picaresque" and could be settled.

Courtney asked that one member from each board be appointed to review all aspects, with the idea of submitting an appropriate article to the Town Meeting. He asked that the town assessor be contacted for appraisal value.

Bill Hooper of the Planning Board asked that the town acquire and assemble all the land, as a town park or forest. Frank Sierrazza questioned "control." George Boylen suggested that the selectmen take over the land, and then have a "sub-board" to control the use.

Mr. Courtney, while interested in having Camp Forty Acres acquire all of the 40 acre tract, said that they would settle for less, and were willing to lease.

Mrs. McKie felt that the basis of the disagreement seemed to be the ultimate use of the land and Mr. Miceli agreed. All felt that no matter what the ultimate use, the land should be acquired as soon as possible.

Selectman Banda was concerned with the "leasing" of the land. He felt that the town would lose control, and warned against the town taking land with the intent of solving a problem, as the problem would still remain. Mike Cairra said the problem was of "utilization and disposition."

Selectman Boylen moved to have the town acquire all the land, as defined in the Master Plan, at the next Town Meeting. Danny Gillis seconded.

In the discussion which followed Mike Cairra proposed an amendment in which the Selectmen would investigate the feasibility of acquisition and final utilization of the land, and come into the Town Meeting with plans for the purpose of a town forest. The amendment lost 3 - 2.

Mr. Boylen's motion was voted, three to two with Cairra and Banda opposed.

Selectman Miceli said that while he was voting in favor of putting the proposal forward he wanted it understood that he would reserve final decision until all the facts were in.

First Baptist Church to host conference

The First Annual Foreign Missions Conference sponsored by the First Baptist Church of Wilmington will be held on Saturday, May 18th and continue on Sunday, May 19th.

International students as well as Americans who have lived and worked in other countries will participate in the conference of which the theme is "Foreign Missions Now."

Presenting major addresses on the theme will be Lee Comly, missionary designate to Mozambique, Africa; Norman Dietrich, director of the Liebenzell Mission, U.S.A., who just recently returned from Micronesia; and Harvey Kalsen, Boston staff member of International Students, Inc.

Beginning on Saturday evening, May 18, at 7 pm and continuing through the day on Sunday, at all the regularly scheduled services these speakers and representatives from various foreign countries will give perspectives on the theme. Have missions changed? Are they still valid in the 70's? Do they present an opportunity for the average resident of Wilmington? These and similar questions will be focused upon, in both formal and informal sessions with the speakers and guests.

The public is invited to attend the entire program.

TWO NYMPHS AND THREE GODDESSES: From the cast of The Tempest, by the Drama Club of WHS. L to R: Karen Fielding, Rebecca Beldwin, Margaret Forrest, Carolyn Landry and Cindy Mandan.

If rising prices have you boiling...

... then we can surely understand why.

We're in much the same predicament. You see, although we're a hospital, we buy many of the same goods and services you do. Take heating oil, for example.

Most household budgets suffered a severe shock this past winter from the increase in the cost of fuel, even though thermostats were turned down to less-than-comfortable settings. Yet the cost of heating your home was markedly greater this year than in previous years.

We were hit by the increase in fuel costs too. As a matter of fact, our fuel bill increased by just slightly under $100,000! You can imagine the impact that had on our budget!

But there was a reason particularly unique to the Hospital...we couldn't turn all our thermostats down...because, even though some patients get hot under the collar at the cost of hospital care, we had to keep them warm under the covers.

Let's take another everyday item that most people don't think of when they think of a hospital...plastic trash bags.

These also increased in price, for you and for us. But, while many people could choose to buy them or not, we didn't have that choice, because plastic bags are the best way we've found to handle all kinds of hospital refuse, some of which may be infectious.

We use nearly 319,000 of these every year and the price increase in this one item went from $13.05 a case to $25.32 - an increase of 94 per cent.

You might say we're throwing our money away, but this is a case where we have to...for the sake of health.

Canned peaches?? Yes, canned peaches!

They certainly don't fall into the same category as sutures or catheters or X-ray film or the many other items that are identified with hospitals but they're an important item on patients' diets.

We had difficulty buying canned peaches this year. In fact, there were times when you, the consumer could buy them and we couldn't. The reason was simply that the packers found that putting them up in No. 3 cans (the size you usually buy) was more profitable than packing them in No. 10 cans (the size we buy). So, if we wanted them, we had to buy the smaller, more expensive size. When we could get them the price had increased by 10 per cent, from $12.15 a case to $13.45...and we bought 232 cases during the year.

No matter how you slice them, that one item alone cost us an additional $301.60.

Meat is another important item on the patient's diet. But like all consumers we are concerned with quality and to get this, we found we had to pay 15-20 per cent more this year than last.

Last year we bought 131,400 eggs. That's 10,950 dozen.

But the price had increased from 55 cents a dozen to 81 cents...a healthy increase of 47 per cent that translated into a total egg bill of $8869.50.

That's a fair amount of egg money!

Up to now, we've only been talking about some of the items that you, the consumer and we, the Hospital, both buy.

It could easily take up this entire page if we were to list the medical items most people relate to when they think of hospital care, but in many of these items, like sutures, catheters, towels, linens, and a host of other items, comparable price increases were experienced by us.

We hope we've made our point...that inflationary prices affect the Hospital its budget in much the same way as they do you and your budget.

Because we are a not-for-profit institution we must look to our chief source of income...hospital rates and charges...in order for us to continue to operate and pay the increased cost of goods and services that we purchase.

As long as prices continue to spiral upward, it is only reasonable to expect that the cost of hospital care will also continue upward, determined not alone by any increase in wages or salaries of its employees but by the cost of the hundreds of items we need and use in providing you with the best in medical care.

Our business is to give you the best medical care possible when you come to us.

We are committed to accomplishing this at the lowest possible cost.

ART EXHIBITS AT SHAWSHEEN TECH

Shawsheen Technical High School last weekend was the scene of an exhibit of hundreds of drawings, paintings, sculptures and other works of art by pupils of the five towns that comprise the district. Wilmington High School was represented more than any other school in the district, with hundreds of individual exhibits. Tewksbury High School was notably absent, probably because of the three-shift system being used there for the high school students. There were a number of paintings from students from Tewksbury Junior High School.

Special children's staff-parents meeting

The Wilmington Recreation Department and the Special Children's Program staff invite parents of former, present and future participants to attend an orientation night, Wednesday, June 5 at 7:00 in the Recreation office, Mildred Rogers School.

It is important for parents or guardians to attend this meeting as they will be able to meet the staff, ask questions and learn first hand the structure and program content for the eight week summer program.

Registration and physical examination forms will be distributed at this meeting. Those planning to attend are asked to phone the Rec office at 658-6512.

Letter

Dear Bob:

I only wish all the parents of those who attended the Wilmington semi-formal at the K of C Hall in Tewksbury last Friday evening could have stood behind the scenes and watched their sons and daughters as I did. They were really a credit to the community, the school department and their parents should really be proud of them.

This writer stopped at the hall for a minute to do an errand and stayed until the prom was over. It was really delightful!!!

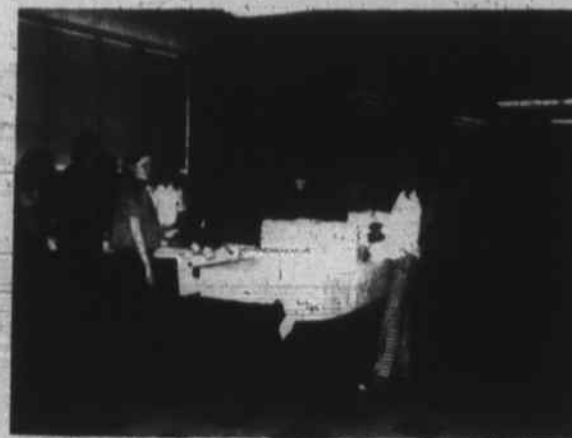

The decorations, done by themselves with the help of the art teachers were unique, the ladies and their escorts were dressed for the occasion. What impressed me the most was the way the escorts treated their ladies. The only beverage served was Coke and the dance floor was crowded all evening with handsome couples dressed in tux's and gorgeous gowns obviously having a wonderful time.

The parents, first of all, are to be commended, but I also observed that the school administration from the superintendent right down to the chaperones set a fine example. They drank Coke and danced along with the young people all evening and had to be very proud of their efforts.

As the wife of the administrator of the K of C Hall, I would also like to note that the hall, powder rooms, etc. were left in excellent condition.

All in all, it was an unexpected enjoyable night and I would just like to congratulate all those responsible.

Mrs. Frank Antonelli

The Sixth Annual Campfire Fair was held Saturday, May 11th at the Congregational Church in Tewksbury.

Officers in the Campfire organization, Campfire leaders and the girls in the program took their positions behind the various tables. There was a white elephant table, books, plants, games, chances, arts and crafts and baked goods for sale.

Nancy Purtell, Linda Farrell and Carol Byette were at a table selling chances on a Barbie doll and her clothes, an Wunderbike motorcycle model and a contest on guess how many candies in the jar.

Marge Moulaison, secretary of the Tewksbury Campfires drew the names of the winners. Jeanette O'Donnell won the Barbie; Bobby Troy guessed the closest number of candy in the jar and Olive Todd won the motorcycle model.

Tewksbury Rotary has best printed bulletin

President Lew Tremblay and Past District Governor John Gleason returned from the annual conference of District 791, Rotary International, with the news that the Tewksbury Club has been honored for having the second best Rotary Bulletin in the District, and the best printed one. Editor and printer of the bulletin, which is called The Pinion, is Ralph Joselyn, of 31 White Street, Tewksbury.

The Tewksbury club was also honored for the many scholarships it has given to students of Tewksbury Memorial High School, a total of 72 scholarships.

Sunday is Liberty Pole

Sunday is Liberty Pole Day in Wilmington, and the Wilmington Company of Minute Men will be host to the men of about twenty other companies, in their annual Wilmington Parade, all dressed in their Colonial uniforms.

Among those who will be present will be the Charlestown Company of Militia.

BLOODMOBILE

LET'S DO IT!

700 PINTS OF BLOOD
FOR THE BLOODMOBILE
NEXT MONDAY, K of C HALLEvery resident of Wilmington is involved, in the Blood Drive of next Monday. Why? To insure 100% Blood Coverage to each and every person in Wilmington for a full year.For a year now, Wilmington residents have enjoyed full coverage, for blood needs, thanks to the American Red Cross Bloodmobile, and to those who donated blood last year.Fortunately there was no disaster. There was no massive call for blood for Wilmington residents in the past year. But if there had been, the Red Cross would have been there, with blood.The Blood Mobile will be at the K of C Hall from 2 pm to 7:45 pm. Any able-bodied person 18 to 65, may donate. Seventeen year olds can give, with parents permission.A person with history of malaria may give, provided there has been no attack for the past three years.Twelve Wilmington Nurses have volunteered their time, to aid in the work of processing donors. The work load should be considerably reduced - there should be very little waiting.Donors are urged to make an appointment.
Call 658-4832, or call 658-2541, and make an appointment for the time when you can attend.
You will have special treatment if you do so.The Town gets full credit for your donation, if you are a Wilmington resident. You may also donate in the name of any organization to which you may belong. This, in effect, becomes a double coverage.MASSACHUSETTS RED CROSS BLOOD PROGRAM

not be accepted.

Infectious Mononucleosis:

Paul Fullerton slammed out three hits for McNamara including the game winning hit in the four run uprising. Paul Cawthron chipped in with a pair of hits to drive in three runs for Mac's crew.

ACLD Meeting May 21

The next meeting of the Wilmington Association for Children with Learning Disabilities (ACLD) on May 21, at 8 pm in the Memorial Library will feature Dr. Carol Sager, Director of Reading in Wilmington as guest speaker.

Dr. Sager will be discussing Wilmington's regular reading program, as well as the remedial reading program. There will be opportunity for questions from the audience. This is a meeting that should be of interest to all parents of Wilmington.

Wilmington ACLD, advocates for children with special needs, is now busily planning next year's program. They welcome suggestions from interested parents. One of the more ambitious projects being planned is a lending library of books, games, puzzles; etc. geared to the special needs child.

also planned is a help line to answer questions about where to go, whom to see if your child has a learning problem. If help is needed now, call Barbara Cogan at 658-6532 any evening after six.

The provisions of Chapter 272 Section 40A

Chapter 272, Section 40A is part of the Statutes of Massachusetts. The chapter has to do with morality and chastity. Section 40A has to do with possession of alcoholic beverages on school property.

A Wilmington youth was on the High School parking lot, recently, in his own car, indulging in beer. He was told by the police to leave. He was told again, later. He did not leave.

Result: A summons, to appear in Woburn Court. There he was found guilty. The fine was $25. It could be as high as $100.

More summonses are forthcoming, it is understood, for people who have been parking in the High School parking lot and there doing their beer drinking.

Council of Churches Supper May 21

The Wilmington Council of Churches will hold its annual covered-dish supper at 6:30 pm on Tuesday, May 21st, in the Fellowship Hall of the First Baptist Church.

The annual event marks the culmination of the Council's yearly schedule which runs from September to May. A special feature of this year's event will be the Rev. Willis Miller's address to the members and guests on the purpose and progress of the Council of Churches in Wilmington. The Rev. Miller's comments will reflect his ministry.

Dukakis for governor meeting

The campaign in Wilmington of Michael Dukakis for Governor on the Democratic ticket will have its first organizational meeting on Thursday evening, May 23rd, at the home of Mrs. Mitzi Wolff, 584 Woburn Street.

Background material on Dukakis, buttons and bumper stickers will be available, plus additional information on his campaign up to now. Future activities for a Dukakis Committee in Wilmington will be discussed.

Plans for an appearance by Mr. Dukakis in Wilmington in June will be made. All Democrats and Independents are invited to attend.

6551 SHOTS: The best pistol sharpshooters of the Wilmington Police Department, as established by a recent tourney involving police of Billerica, Burlington, Tewksbury and Wilmington. There is a league comprised of about fifty police officers from the four towns, set up to further five-guns training. In the center is Patrolman Bernard Nally, Number One in Wilmington, and number three in the league. At left is Patrolman Arthur V. Lynch Jr., Number Two in Wilmington; and at right is Patrolman Bob LaRive, Number Three in Wilmington. The Billerica team placed in top spot, and individually Wilmington had three men (above) in the top ten.

LWV Speaks flat rate for Water Charges

In a May resolution to the Board of Selectmen of Wilmington, the League of Women Voters (LWV) has asked that Wilmington's water rate be changed to one of a flat rate schedule. The League asks that it go on record as opposed to the present rate scale and is in favor of a new policy, one that would recognize water as a limited resource, and would promote its conservation.

The letter is signed by Cynthia Sullivan, and by Dorothy Marshall, president of the League.

The National Board report of the LWV "supports national policies and procedures which promote comprehensive long-range planning for conservation and development of water resources and improvement of water quality," the letter says. The Massachusetts LWV is currently supporting House Bill 91, in the legislature, a bill filed by the Metropolitan District Commission and which calls for the establishment of rules and regulations for water use. It would allow the MDC to require cities and towns to repeal arrangements which provide discounts for quantity usage of water.

"Although Wilmington is not a member of the MDC," the letter says, "its water rate schedule is based on such quantity use discounts. We ask that you consider changing this to a flat rate schedule. Hopefully by so doing large water users would be encouraged to halt waste and to consider the feasibility of cleaning and recycling water."

dicated there were tests on hearing.

The screening procedure enables the parents of the children an invaluable opportunity to have their child's ability to communicate assessed by professionals, before he enters school, and increases parental awareness of the normal development of communication.

The service is one of the charitable programs of the Kiwanis Club. Wives of Kiwanians were also present, to assist in the screening process.

HEARING TEST FOR SUSAN BEALS: of Wicks Circle. The four year old is being tested by Kirby Greene.

DANNY D'EON, five years old, is all attention as he listens to Karen Grossman, speech pathologist. Danny lives on Manning Street.
